

avast! - probably the world's most popular antivirus software

We are happy to offer you substantial price reductions on avast! antivirus products made possible by its ever growing market share. avast! antivirus reached 100 million registered users in December 2009, and now is the number one antivirus software of choice in Europe.

avast! antivirus range offers complete protection against viruses and malware for both individual home users and large corporations. avast! product line starts with avast! Free Antivirus for home use and continues up to the top-of-the-line solutions for business.

It is well-known that avast! products do not noticeably slow down your computer and the updates are very light, average size being 100kB.

The word avast is an old nautical term meaning "stop", a fitting name for an antivirus product. All avast! products are developed in-house by ALWIL Software in Prague, the Czech Republic.

avast! reaches 100 million registered users

Since the first registration in January 2002, avast! antivirus has grown to be a global leader. avast! added 82 thousand in just 24 hours after reaching 100 million users in December 2009.

These numbers represent active users that download a definition update at least once a month. This may not sound so big, but if you think about it, this represents 15-20% of all consumer PCs in the world!

avast! passes Kaspersky Labs antivirus downloads (April 9th, 2010)

avast! antivirus has become the most popular security software in Russia, taking the number one position at the two leading download sites in Russia, softportal.com and softodrom.ru.

avast! passed Kaspersky Labs antivirus downloads in both daily and cumulative downloads (1021 / 347,942). This is a notable success, because Russia already has two strong 'national brands', Kaspersky and Dr. Web. (More avast! News: <http://www.avast.com/news>)

Why avast! offers antivirus software FREE to home users?

avast! offers by far the most complete, free antivirus solution on the market because, avast! believes that you shouldn't have to pay for good security. avast! Free Antivirus is not only free, but it provides excellent protection even out-performing some better known paid products.

Independent testing laboratories such as VB100, ICSA Labs and Checkmark have verified effectiveness of avast! Free Antivirus. Google has chosen this product for inclusion in the Google Pack, a package of free software Google assembles and distributes to their users around the world.

"My first reaction was that avast! Free Antivirus was too good to be free ..."

"... Then I realized that this was the key to the success of avast! They truly believe that all Internet users deserve the best possible free protection against viruses and spyware." - Vince Steckler, CEO - Alwil Software (Former Senior Vice President of Consumer Sales at Symantec).

Awards and Certifications

Virus Bulletin, ICSA Labs and West Coast Labs - avast! antivirus has been tested and certified by these three major authorities. The VB100 test is based on 100% detection of all in-the-wild viruses without false alarms.

AV Comparatives Advanced+ - avast! had the fastest scan time out of the 16 tested programs and was the only program to get a top five finish for both malware detection and low numbers of false positives.

Windows 7 Compatibility Certification - avast! antivirus software has earned the "Compatible with Windows 7" logo.

Herring 100 Europe Award - avast! is a finalist for the 2010 Red Herring 100 Europe Award, a prestigious list honouring the year's most promising European private technology ventures.

Top 5 hidden gems of avast!

avast! is famous for its light footprint and fast performance, but have you heard of these?

1. Boot-time scan when most of the malware is still dormant.

2. Antivirus screensaver when the system is idle (to enable avast! screensaver, select "avast! antivirus" from the list on screensaver properties window).
3. Unrivalled detection of script malware that come from websites.
4. Strong anti-rootkit shield based on GMER, one of the most respected specialized anti-rootkit applications available (the guy who created the original GMER now works for avast!).
5. Malware submission system that allows the user to easily submit to avast! when something suspicious is detected.
